US Mortality Statistics for 2004

Classified by WHO's Internation Classification of Diseases 10 (ICD10)

Top 20 causes of death in males

Atherosclerotic heart disease is the top cause of death in males in US for the year 2004. There have been considerable deaths due to Malignant neoplasm of prostate which is pertained to males only.

Top 20 causes of death in females

I20 Atherosclerotic heart disease 667,477	I20 Acute myocardial infarction, unspecified 516,304	I60 Stroke, not specified as haemorrhage or infarction 324,742		J40 Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, unspecified 298,058	C50 Malignant neoplasm: Breast, unspecified 248,457		mort-female-US04 54,078 667,477 160 - Intracerebral haemorrhage, unspecified (56,178) N30 - Urinary tract infection, site not specified (57,625)
		C15 Malignant neoplasm: Colon, unspecified 139,249	C15 Malignant neoplasm: Pancreas, unspecified 91,439	J09 Pneumonia, unspecified 183,840	F00 Unspecified dementia 163,952	Unspecified dementia
120 Atherosclerotic cardiovascular disease, so described 193,973  C30 Malignant neoplasm: Bronchus or lung, unspecified 394,633		Alzheimer disease, unspecified 228,887  130 Congestive heart failure 195,147		E10 Unspecified diabetes mellitus: Without complications 132,931 A30 Sepsis, unspecified 99,585	C51 Malignant neoplasm of ovary 86,156 N17 Unspecified	N30

Atherosclerotic heart disease is also the top cause of death in females in US for the year 2004. There have been considerable deaths due to Malignant neoplasm of breast, ovary which is pertained to females only.

Top 20 causes of death in both male and females

The leading cause of death in both males and females is due to Atheroscelrotic heart disease. Malignant neoplasm comes in second and Acute myocardial infarction completes the top 3 death causes in US for the year 2004.